EXPERIENCE: Investment Arbitration and Public International Law

We have advised and represented both investors and States in disputes arising under bilateral and multilateral investment treaties and under ad hoc submission agreements. Our experience also includes State-to-State arbitrations, such as the Abyei Arbitration, which concerned a boundary delimitation arising out of a peace agreement seeking to end decades of civil war in Southern Sudan. Some of our lawyers have prior government experience litigating investment claims, negotiating investment treaties, and advising States on PIL issues. We provide the full spectrum of services associated with investment disputes:

- Advising on investment structures and restructuring
- Leading negotiations to avoid or amicably resolve disputes
- Arbitrating investment disputes under all major rules
- Litigating annulment applications and enforcing awards
