

ABOUT THE BLOG

Kim Crowley, a summer associate in our Boston office, is now a litigation associate at the firm. She graduated from Boston University School of Law in 2020. Prior to law school, Kim worked as an English teacher in France, a pilgrim at Plimoth Plantation, and a union organizer for the UAW. During her free time, Kim listens to bad music, watches The West Wing, eats candy, drinks coffee, stumbles and drinks more coffee.
