

Anatomy of a Pitch Meeting: Understanding the VC Perspective

MAY 3, 2017

On May 3, join our Emerging Company Practice for the latest installment of our QuickLaunch University series, featuring presentations from startup advisors on the most critical issues facing early-stage companies. In this session, we invite you to peek behind the curtain of a pitch to venture capitalists, including a real example of a successful company's pitch from a prior fundraising round and questions from the investor side.

Founders and executives from early-stage companies that are currently fundraising—or will be in the near future—will leave with an understanding of how to present a business and marketing plan to potential investors and tips on how to craft a compelling pitch.
