

14th Annual Stanford E-Commerce Best Practices Conference

JUNE 12, 2017

The Stanford E-Commerce Best Practices Conference is the premier educational event for in-house counsel and practitioners in the e-commerce industry. Leading authorities from industry, legal practice and academia will address current issues facing the industry and offer practical solutions for dealing with the many legal uncertainties that arise when doing business online. The program will feature a roundtable of general counsel from leading e-commerce companies.

WilmerHale Partner Mark Selwyn will moderate a panel "What To Do When Your Company Gets Sued For Patent Infringement" and Partner Natalie Hanlon Leh will moderate a panel "How to Navigate the Intricate Legal Questions Raised by Self-driving Cars and other IoT Devices."
