

4th London Gas & LNG Forum

SEPTEMBER 13-14, 2017

The London Gas & LNG Forum is a unique commercial platform that brings together American and European energy leaders, investors, and government decision makers aiming to provide market intelligence and access to top decision makers. The London Forum is a private, closed door, off the record, non-attribution, and non-dissemination meeting.

The topic of the forum is the diversification of European gas supplies and the Anglo-American energy relations. The focus will be on the US LNG exports and the impact of shale gas and hydraulic fracturing to the global energy markets. Moreover, the diversification of gas supplies in Europe from alternative routes and resources, with emphasis on the southern gas corridor and the East Mediterranean gas. The London Forum will address the energy policy of the Trump Administration, in relationship to United Kingdom and Europe and its impact on the European Union energy market.

WilmerHale Partner Steven Finizio will speak during the session "Gas Supply Contracts in the New LNG Driven Market."
