

DC FinTech Week

NOVEMBER 5–8, 2018
INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND

During FinTech Week, thought leaders from FinTech firms across the country—from Amazon to Zcash—describe their business and explain how their services intersect with markets for a global audience consisting of policymakers, market participants, lawyers and thought leaders. An international array of regulators—from the chairman of the CFTC to the co-director of Colombia’s central bank—will in turn lay out their perspective on the future of FinTech regulatory policy at Georgetown University, the IMF and on Capitol Hill.

On day two of the conference, WilmerHale Special Counsel Petal Walker will participate in the flash presentation “Blockchain Systems and Risk Management Infrastructures,” with a moderator and panelists from the IMF, Alphapoint, Bermuda Monetary Authority, the US Securities and Exchange Commission and the European Commission.
