

American Bar Association: The 24th Annual National Institute on White Collar Crime

FEBRUARY 24-26, 2010

The 24th Annual National Institute on White Collar Crime will bring together a distinguished faculty, including some of the leading members of the white collar bar in the United States and in England, to discuss a variety of topics related to the field of white collar crime, provide valuable updates on new developments and strategies and offer panel discussions and presentations. Keynote panels will focus on the most significant fraud trials of the past year, as well as an in-depth review of recent developments regarding Brady Rule.

WilmerHale partner Randall Lee will be a featured panelist at this event. He will speak on the panel entitled "Developments and trends in securities fraud enforcement."
