This one-day symposium, hosted by the Citizen Media Law Project and Cyberlaw Clinic at Harvard Law School's Berkman Center, will celebrate the launch of the Online Media Legal Network (OMLN), created to support promising ventures and innovative thinkers in online and digital media by providing access to legal help that would otherwise be unavailable. This event will bring together panels of academics, legal practitioners, and journalists to discuss topics related to Journalism's digital transition, such as the legal issues arising from news aggregation and managing online communities, as well as the question of what comes next for journalism, and how the legal profession can assist (or hinder) journalism's digital transition.

WilmerHale is a sponsor of this event. WilmerHale partner Patrick Carome will be a featured speaker at this event. He will speak on the topic of "Building and Managing Online Communities – Anonymity, Defamation and Privacy, Oh My!"
