

Discussion with Dr. Ling Dong and Tingting Liu on SAIC Rules of Prohibition of Abuses of IPR for Eliminating or Restricting Competition

JUNE 24, 2014

Join USITO for a discussion with Executive Director of Competition Law Center of UIBE Dr. Ling DONG and WilmerHale Associate Tingting Liu, on of the Rules of the Administration for Industry and Commerce on the Prohibition of Abuses of Intellectual Property Rights for the Purposes of Eliminating or Restricting Competition, that SAIC released for public comment through early July.

Dr. Dong, who has been working closely with SAIC in the Rules drafting processes from the very beginning, will share his understandings on the background, targets, and key articles that SAIC might still not certain. Ms. Liu will touch on how the rules, if enacted in their current form, would curtail IPR and how this approach would put China at odds with current practices in major antitrust enforcement jurisdictions around the world.

This is a members-only event, will be conducted in Chinese, and is strictly off the record.
