

International Society for Medical Publication Professionals: Mapping Success: New Rules of the Road for Medical Publications

APRIL 28-30, 2008

Publication planning is complex and, as the field grows, so do both the stakeholders and the technology that supports them. With its increasing complexity comes the need for more solutions on how to continue to do our jobs well while keeping up with changes, and integrating them into our daily professional lives. This annual meeting, presented by ISMPP, will focus on the changes that have occurred over the past year, and what we as publication professionals need to know to succeed.

WilmerHale partner Scott Lassman will be a speaker on a panel entitled, "Clinical Trials Registries and Results: Recent Changes and Their Impact," on April 29.
