

JLABS WHM Event: The WIB Lobster Pot

CAMBRIDGE, MA

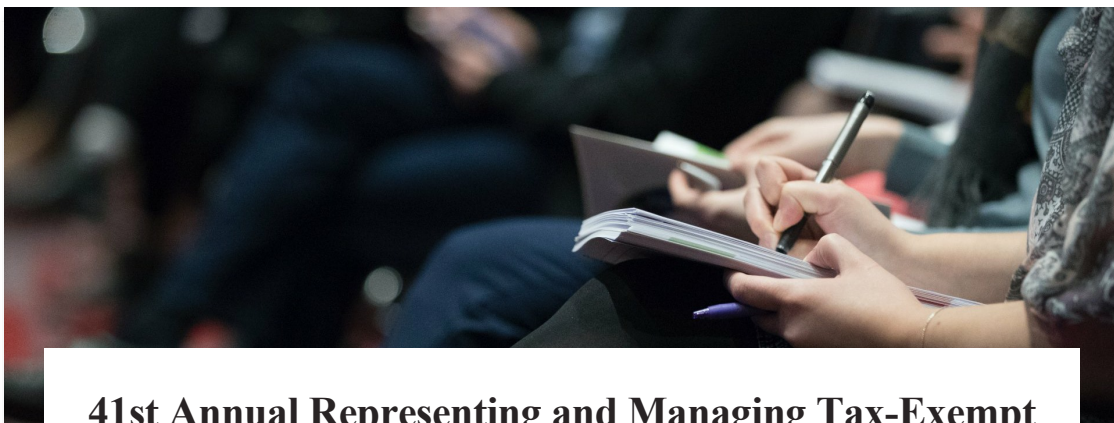

What better way to honor Women's History Month than to celebrate powerful women in the life sciences? We will feature two groups of influential women in the biotech space: eight female executives from startups raising funds, and five senior-level women at investment firms will come together in the Lobster Pot.

Come check out companies across four different sectors within life sciences, including therapeutics, diagnostics, devices and healthcare IT.

This event will also provide an invaluable opportunity to network. As the name suggests, this event will be in the "shark tank style," with each fundraising executive pitching to investors and the audience. The investors will provide feedback on the pitch and comment on the ideas presented. The audience will also have the opportunity to rate each pitch.
