

Law Seminars International: Suprime Lending Crisis

MARCH 18-19, 2008

This two-day conference, presented by LSI, will provide a big-picture view of the different facets of the subprime lending crisis. The program will dissect the problem, identify existing regulatory efforts and ongoing litigation and explore what is likely to occur in the future. Attendees will have an opportunity to see how the various pieces of this multi-layered puzzle fit together and to consider strategies to follow going forward.

On March 18, WilmerHale partner Philip Anker will speak on a panel entitled, "Corporate Bankruptcies: Troubled Times for Loan Originators and Others." Philip will cover issues facing loan originators and others seeking protection and prospects for and barriers to litigation on behalf of bankrupt entities.
