

MassBio Regional Mixer: Innovation District

BOSTON, MA

MassBio is committed to supporting our members throughout the Greater Boston area, and looks forward to bringing the popular Regional Mixer Series on the road again in 2015. The Innovation District has rapidly grown from an industrial park to a bustling community with representation from a variety of industries. The life science community has been at the helm of that expansion, and continues to be a vital part of this exciting development. This area continues to develop into a premier location for the life science community.
