MCLE New England: 18th Annual New England Intellectual Property Law Conference 2015

JUNE 15, 2015

Intellectual property law—in all its forms—continues to evolve rapidly. There are few areas of the law more important to the global economy, and to our local economy. Changes in IP law directly impact IP-centric companies and their lawyers, including in-house counsel, IP lawyers, business lawyers and litigators.

The veteran panelists share their real-world practical knowledge, and bring you up-to-date on the latest developments in patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, and IP litigation and transactions. This fast-moving program covers a vast span of key intellectual property law issues and opportunities—in a focused, high-speed, small-classroom setting.

WilmerHale Partner Mark Fleming will be speaking.
