

MIT: Digital Media & Telecommunications: Mobile & Field Force Automation Convergence

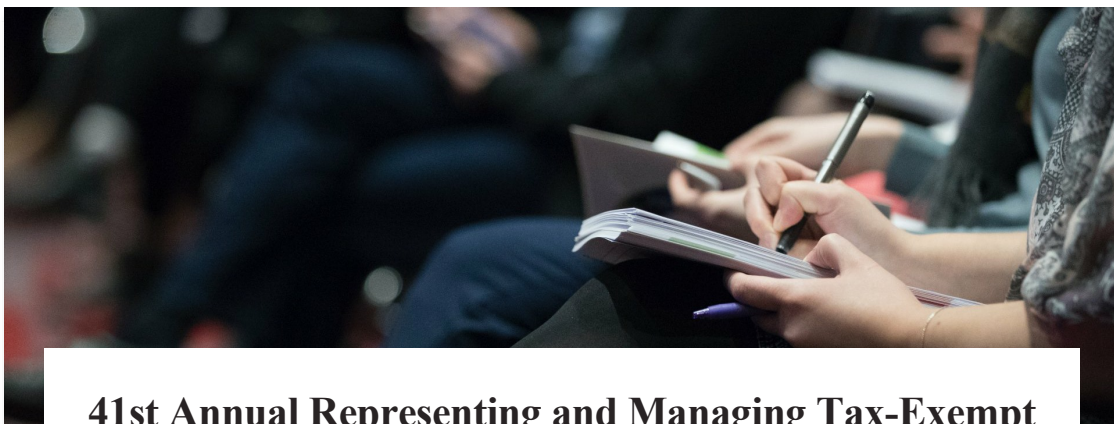

2008-06-23

This program, presented by MIT, provides an environment for education, networking and collaboration for the digital media and telecommunications community of the MIT Enterprise Forum. Attendees will have the opportunity to listen to and engage with experts in the field as they describe the challenges businesses face when adopting mobile solutions, the market opportunity for business wireless data applications, and the strategies implemented by enterprise mobile application solutions providers to facilitate enterprise use of mobile applications.

WilmerHale is a sponsor of this event.
