

MIT: Energy Start Smart Program: Session 1

2009-01-20

Start Smart is a workshop series presented by MIT which will feature presentations by the Enterprise Forum's world-class clean technology experts. The program's eight sessions, which are targeted towards the major steps involved with launching a successful startup venture, will begin with "Energy Start Smart Program: Session 1: Starting." Experts at these sessions will bring their unique expertise, knowledge, resource guides, and experience to each of these sessions. Attendees will learn important steps to prepare and build an early stage venture, receive peer feedback, gain real-life training, as well as life-long networking.

WilmerHale is a sponsor of these workshops.
