

Nanoscale Science and Engineering Center for High-rate Nanomanufacturing: 6th New England International Nanomanufacturing Workshop

2008-09-12

Co-hosted by Northeastern University, University of Massachusetts Lowell, University of New Hampshire and National Science Foundation (NSF), this workshop addressed moving nanotechnology from the laboratory to industry-floor manufacturing. Attendees had the opportunity to learn about current developments and successes in transitioning research into commercial products.

WilmerHale counsel James Votaw was a panelist at this workshop. He spoke on the panel titled "Breaking the Barriers to Nanomanufacturing to Enable the Commercialization of Nanotechnology."
