

Oil & Gas Anti-Corruption & Compliance Congress

SEPTEMBER 24, 2013

Not unlike other industries that have been targeted by the US DOJ and SEC for FCPA enforcement, business operations within the oil and gas industry remain ever-vulnerable to violations under the FCPA primarily as the direct result of risk exposure created by foreign third party activity in high risk jurisdictions. No stranger to FCPA enforcement, it is crucial that in-house legal counsel, compliance officers and business executives within the oil and gas and related services industry remain up-to-speed on current targeted behavior and evolutions in global compliance protocols in order to stay one step ahead of the enforcement curve.

WilmerHale Partner Erin Sloane will be a featured panelist at this event, and discuss the topic “How to Tackle Unique Compliance Challenges Associated with the Training and Management of Foreign Employees.”
