

Practising Law Institute: Trial by Jury 2015

NOVEMBER 5, 2015

The masters of the bar and the bench come together at this event to give you valuable and useful insights on jury trials. Experienced and respected state and federal judges, as well as many distinguished litigators, will provide their perspectives on jury trials. There is no better way to learn about jury trial practice than from the attorneys who try the nation's most important cases and the judges who preside over them.

Whether you are new to your career as a trial attorney or an experienced courtroom litigator, this course will give you a unique view into jury trials and the best way to handle them, from opening statements through closing arguments. The faculty will also dissect the ethical issues that often arise and the best ways to handle these situations. Attend this event to gain proven strategies and practical tools to successfully handle every phase of your next jury case.

WilmerHale Partner William Lee will be speaking on the panel "Picking the Best Possible Jury."
