

The University of Maryland School of Law: Seventh Annual Business Law Conference

2008-10-03

The University of Maryland, School of Law, will be hosting its Seventh Annual Business Law Conference entitled "The Subprime Meltdown: Causes, Consequences and Solutions."

This conference will gather experts from academia, the financial services sector, consumer groups, Capitol Hill, journalism, unions, and regulatory institutions to provide answers to each of these questions. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn about various topics of financial infrastructure, impact on the economy, credit agencies and insurance.

WilmerHale Partner Ann Kappler will be on a panel entitled, "The Housing Crisis and Early Solutions."
