

WilmerHale Webinar: Data Security-Recent Developments, Trends and Practical Compliance Tips

2007-05-22

The WilmerHale Data Security Webinar is designed to provide insight into recent developments and trends in data security and breach response requirements under both state and federal law. Additionally, we will present practical information on all facets of data security, from how to design and implement a data security program (including strategies designed to decrease liability exposure and compliance burdens) to how to respond when confronted with a potential security breach. We will also examine current enforcement trends and cases dealing with data security issues.
