
WilmerHale Represents Asimov in $4.7 Million Financing

DECEMBER 22, 2017

WilmerHale represented Asimov in its recently announced $4.7 million round of funding. The company provides an industry-grade computer-aided design and genetic engineering framework for programming living cells. Andreessen Horowitz was the lead backer of this financing, along with venture firm Pillar, Data Collective and AME Cloud Ventures.

WilmerHale's Josh Fox and Killian Nolan represented Asimov in this transaction.

View TechCrunch's coverage of the news, as well as Asimov co-founder Alec Nielsen's blog post about the company's platform.