
Boston Business Journal Again Recognizes WilmerHale As Top Charitable Contributor

OCTOBER 7, 2014

The Boston Business Journal again named WilmerHale to its annual list of Top Charitable Contributors, meant to showcase the region's top corporate community contributors by 2013 Massachusetts cash and in-kind contributions. Seventy-three companies were ranked and out of the four law firms listed, WilmerHale was number one.

The firm was recognized for giving more than $30 million pro bono and in-kind donations in 2013 to Massachusetts-based charitable organizations including Cathedral High School, Greater Boston Legal Services, Discovering Justice, Citizen Schools and United Way.

WilmerHale and all other honorees were celebrated during an awards ceremony at the business journal's annual Corporate Citizenship Summit on September 10 at the Westin Copley Place in Boston, Massachusetts.

The firm is dedicated to strengthening its community through both regional and national partnerships. Learn more about WilmerHale's charitable giving.
