
Joseph Mueller Named a Boston Rising Star by The National Law Journal

SEPTEMBER 5, 2014

The National Law Journal has named Partner Joseph Mueller to its 2014 Boston Rising Stars, a list honoring 40 outstanding lawyers age 40 or under who "have accomplished big feats" and "also are improving their communities by volunteering their sharp legal skills to a variety of nonprofit organizations."

Mueller's practice involves both classic patent litigation and innovative cases exploring the intersection of intellectual property and other disciplines such as antitrust, in both the US and abroad. He has extensive trial experience, has worked on many appeals, and has been involved with judicial and regulatory proceedings across Europe and Asia. In addition, he gives considerable time to helping foster the legal community in Boston—he is an adjunct professor of law at Boston College Law School, is the counselor of the Boston Intellectual Property Inn of Court, and serves on the board of Discovering Justice, a nonprofit focused on legal and civic education for Boston-area children.

Mueller was profiled in The National Law Journal on August 25, 2014.