
Partner Mary Jo Johnson Recognized Among Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly Top Women of Law

OCTOBER 24, 2014

Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly has named Partner Mary Jo Johnson to its annual list of Top Women of Law, which honors women in the legal industry who have made inspiring contributions in their fields, including social justice, advocacy and business. The special edition showcases Johnson's devotion to the law and pro bono work, her belief in the power of mentoring, and what provides her a significant sense of achievement.

Johnson is a partner in WilmerHale's Litigation/Controversy, Regulatory and Government Affairs and Securities Departments, and represents corporations and financial institutions as well as officers and directors in matters pending before courts and federal and state regulatory agencies. She has significant experience in conducting internal investigations and advising clients on compliance matters and responses to regulatory requests and subpoenas. Her practice includes clients in diverse industries, such as financial services, banking, software, technology, manufacturing, healthcare, pharmaceutical, insurance and investment management.

View Johnson's Top Women of Law profile.