

Robert Cultice and George Mykulak Bring National Franchise Litigation Practice to Hale and Dorr

JANUARY 18, 2000

Hale and Dorr LLP, one of the nation's leading litigation law firms, announced today that Robert D. Cultice and George W. Mykulak, formerly of Goldstein & Manello, P.C., have joined the firm as Partners in its Litigation Department. Mr. Cultice and Mr. Mykulak have a national franchise litigation practice and currently serve as national litigation counsel for franchise matters for DaimlerChrysler.

"For many years, we have had an active and prominent trade regulations and franchise litigation practice. The addition of Bob and George to our existing practice group provides the Firm with enhanced expertise and an increased ability to service clients throughout the country," said John D. Hamilton, Jr., the Firm's Managing Partner. "We feel particularly fortunate to have this group of excellent trial lawyers join us."

About Hale and Dorr LLP

Hale and Dorr is nationally and internationally recognized for its experience in venture capital, initial public offerings, intellectual property and securities and intellectual property litigation. As a leading technology law firm, we represent clients in a wide variety of sectors including telecommunications, software, electronics, life sciences and medical devices. The firm's full-service practice also includes tax, commercial, labor and employment, real estate, environmental, government and regulatory affairs and private client services, and a strong commitment to public service dating from our founding more than eighty years ago. Hale and Dorr has nearly 500 lawyers with offices in Boston, New York, Princeton, Reston, Waltham and Washington and joint venture offices in London, Munich and Oxford. For more information please visit our website at www.haledorr.com.