
Ronald Machen Accepted to Prestigious International Defense Law Association

2006-03-08

Ronald Machen in the Washington DC office of WilmerHale recently was accepted as a member of the International Association of Defense Counsel (IADC).

Founded in 1920, the IADC is the oldest international organization of lawyers representing corporations and insurers. Membership is by invitation only, and nominees undergo a peer review process before being accepted.

The IADC membership comprises the world's leading corporate and insurance lawyers. They are partners in large and small law firms, senior counsel in corporate law departments, and corporate and insurance executives. Members represent the largest corporations in America and abroad, including many Fortune 500 companies.

The IADC serves its members and their clients through networking, education, and professional opportunities. It also aids the civil justice system and the legal profession by taking a leadership role in many areas of legal reform and professional development.
