The American Lawyer A-List Ranks WilmerHale Among the Top Five Law Firms in the Nation

JULY 2, 2014

WilmerHale has again been honored among the nation's stand-out law firms, earning its place among the top five firms in the 2014 edition of The American Lawyer's A-List. This is the eleventh year since the list's inception in 2003 that the firm has been included in this prestigious ranking.

The factors considered for placement on this list include a firm's financial prowess, pro bono commitment, associate satisfaction and diversity. According to The American Lawyer, the secrets to A-List success include "constancy, a good year, and being in it to win it."

WilmerHale has maintained its standing as a pro bono leader in the rankings, having accrued the highest total pro bono score out of all 20 of the firms on the list. The firm is proud of continuously proving to be a national leader in pro bono services and charitable activities, and of encouraging its lawyers to take action to help strengthen communities, and to continue the firm's long history of supporting public institutions and charitable organizations.
