
The National Law Journal Names Three WilmerHale Lawyers Among the Nation's Most Influential

2006-06-19

WilmerHale's Co-Managing Partner William Lee and Partners Benjamin Heineman and Seth Waxman were today recognized as three of "The 100 Most Influential Lawyers in America." The firm is one of only two law firms to have three individual lawyers named to the list.

This is the first time in six years that The National Law Journal has named "The 100 Most Influential Lawyers in America." Chosen to the list are lawyers "who had a national impact in their fields and beyond—especially over the past five years, lawyers who have the power to shape public affairs, launch industries, shake things up and get things done." WilmerHale is home to three of these 100 lawyers found to have "the clout to make big things happen."
