2011-01-05

Dear Clients and Contacts of the Firm,

We are aware that many Firm clients and contacts have received an email message purportedly sent from "Brian Willmer of Willmer Hale Law" with the subject line "Commercial Litigation Subpoena". This email message does not originate from WilmerHale. It encourages individuals to click on a link to review requirements for responding to a subpoena. Please delete the message and avoid clicking on any links contained within the message. There is no one named "Brian Willmer" who works at our Firm. We are attempting to trace the origin of these messages and stop them if possible. We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.
