
WilmerHale Partner Andre Owens Joins LUNGeivity Foundation's Board of Directors

MARCH 15, 2018

This press release was prepared and disseminated by the LUNGeivity Foundation.

LUNGeivity Foundation, the nation's leading lung cancer-focused nonprofit organization, announced that Andre Owens, partner in the Washington, D.C., law office of WilmerHale, has joined the Board of Directors. Together with other global leaders on the Board, Owens will lend his expertise to further LUNGeivity's work of changing outcomes for people with lung cancer.

"We are grateful to have someone as uniquely qualified as Andre join our Board," said Andrea Ferris, CEO of LUNGeivity Foundation. "His valuable specialized knowledge coupled with a strong personal motivation for increasing survivorship in lung cancer makes Andre a great addition to help steer the Foundation's research, education, support, and public policy programs."

"Like so many others, I have been personally affected by the loss of loved ones to lung cancer," explains Owens. "While there has been some progress in the lung cancer space, we still have a lot more to do. I am proud and honored to help LUNGeivity achieve its vision of creating a world where no one dies of lung cancer."

Andre's legal practice focuses on securities trading and markets activities. He counsels broker-dealers, securities exchanges, investment advisers, and other clients on a variety of regulatory issues.

In the past, Andre served as a member of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission's Office of General Counsel. He also served as counsel to former SEC Commissioner Steven M. H. Wallman.

Mr. Owens graduated from Providence College with a bachelor's degree and holds a JD degree from Harvard Law School.
