
WilmerHale Represents Stash in Securing $40M in Series C Funding

JULY 14, 2017

Stash, a financial technology platform revolutionizing investment and financial literacy across the US, announced that it has raised $40 million in Series C funding. The company has grown faster than any other investing service in the country and has raised a total of $78 million in less than two years. In 2017 alone, Stash added more than half a million new users to its platform, with more than 25,000 new users joining every week.
