

---

Cost Savings in International Litigation

JANUARY 1, 2006

The article notes the growth in number, complexity, importance and cost of cross-border disputes. Alternative dispute resolution, including international arbitration and mediation is seen as a way of winning international disputes and managing the costs of litigation, compared to national court processes. The desirability of early, tailored advice is stressed.

To access the full article, click here.