2007-04-13

The USCIS has announced that it has received approximately 12,989 cases filed on behalf of aliens holding a master's degree or higher from a US institution. Therefore, the USCIS will continue to accept another 7,000 of these cases for processing.

If you have a need for an H-1B for a foreign national holding a master's or higher degree from a US institution that you are interested in filing, it is not too late. For more information on this or other immigration issues, contact:
