
Debt Finance

We guide clients through today's ever-changing debt markets, representing them in a broad variety of debt deals that range from complex financial structures to traditional loan transactions.

WilmerHale's debt finance lawyers provide sophisticated and knowledgeable representation to clients from a wide range of industries, including technology, manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, retail, investment, financial services, real estate and food products. As these clients work to issue, lend and buy debt instruments in a broad spectrum of transactions, we work to find the practical business solutions necessary to get the deals done. With the support of seasoned lawyers from the firm's corporate, securities, life sciences, intellectual property and other practices spanning the United States, Europe and Asia, we are equipped to address the specific needs of clients in even the most complex transactions.
