
Asia

Offering premier regulatory and government relations capabilities and key business and transactional insight.

Lawyers from across WilmerHale's practices and offices, including those in Beijing, work with clients entering the markets in Asia and with Asia-based companies that are active in or wish to penetrate markets in the Americas and EMEA. We help clients capitalize on attractive trade and investment opportunities in the Asia markets while addressing the challenges and intricate legal, regulatory, governmental and cultural barriers confronting foreign companies trying to do business in Asia. We also bring a strong understanding of the increasingly sophisticated investment and financing choices for structuring transactions and investing in Asia.
