
WilmerHale Recognized as IP Litigation Department of the Year by The American Lawyer's New England Legal Awards

OCTOBER 3, 2023

The American Lawyer honored WilmerHale in the Intellectual Property Litigation Department of the Year category of the publication's first-ever edition of the New England Legal Awards, which celebrates professional excellence in New England law.

The firm's Intellectual Property Litigation Department offers clients a deep pool of experience across all issues related to their intellectual property, utilizing a network of highly experienced lawyers that have prevailed in notable disputes for many of today's most significant companies in technology, pharmaceuticals and other industries. Clients rely on our globally recognized IP Litigation Department to provide high-quality and innovative solutions to the most complex legal and business issues.

This year's Litigation Departments of the Year - Specialty honorees were recognized at the New England Legal Awards on Thursday, September 21 at the Fairmont Copley Plaza in Boston, MA.