Adela Lilollari focuses her practice on complex litigation matters and appeals. She joined WilmerHale as an associate in 2024.

Prior to joining the firm, she clerked for Judge William Fletcher of the US Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit and Judge Paul Engelmayer of the US District Court for the Southern District of New York. During law school, she participated in the Advanced Appellate Litigation Project and argued before the US Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. She also served as a summer associate at international law firms in Washington DC and New York City.
