Zach Lass represents clients on a broad range of complex civil, criminal, administrative and regulatory matters. He specializes in crisis management, helping clients navigate inquiries from Congress, the Department of Justice, other federal and international agencies and regulators, and state attorney general offices. He provides strategic counsel to clients involved in government investigations, internal investigations, litigation, as well as regulatory compliance matters. Mr. Lass has represented clients across a variety of industries, including pharmaceutical and healthcare companies, energy and natural resources companies, environmental organizations, and technology and media companies.

Mr. Lass also maintains an active pro bono practice. Most notably, after a five-year effort, he secured Asylum for a Honduran woman and her young daughter, presenting compelling arguments to both the government and court.

Prior to joining the firm, Mr. Lass joined clerked for the Honorable Chief Justice Brian D. Boatright of the Colorado Supreme Court.

While pursuing his legal education, Mr. Lass was a student attorney in the Environmental Law Clinic at the University of Denver Sturm College of Law and a law clerk in the US Attorney's Office for the District of Colorado. He also worked as a law clerk for a national firm. Previously, Mr. Lass worked as a Fly Fishing guide and managed an outfitting business, travelling the globe to host clients in gold medal fisheries.
